

Finding Full Text with EndNote

To Setup

1. Click on Edit > Preferences
2. Select "Find Full Text" in the left-hand column
3. Check the "PubMed LinkOut" box (all boxes will now be checked)
4. Insert the following URLs
OpenURL Path: <http://getitduke.library.duke.edu> AND Authenticate with: URL <https://login.proxy.lib.duke.edu/login?url=>

To run "Find Full Text" in EndNote

1. Select (highlight) the references you would like EndNote to try and find PDFs for
2. Click References > Find Full Text > Find Full Text
3. EndNote Find Full Text copyright and usage notice will pop up
4. Click OK
5. You will see the progress of the search on the left (in the Groups pane) at the bottom

While this feature works quite well, it is not perfect and may not find everything!

Reasons why "Full Text" might not be found

- Article is too old to have a PDF available
- Article is too new and the PDF link is not yet available
- Journal has embargoed current articles so EndNote cannot get to it
- Duke does not have a subscription to the journal and there is no free access
- Too many users are already in a journal with limited access
- Publisher's Website does not support or allow this capability
- Article is buried in a large full-text database that does not allow individual articles to be found
- Journal handles letters, editorials, correspondence differently, making it difficult to find a citation
