Find an Article

Use one of the following methods:
Fill in as much information as you have (at least two fields).

PubMed Single Citation Matcher

- Use this tool to find PubMed citations. You may omit any field.
- Journal may be the full title or the title abbreviation.
- For first and last author searching, use smith j format.

PubMed’s Single Citation Matcher (most medical journals)

- Open Single Citation Matcher from the Library’s Website or PubMed.
- http://mclibrary.duke.edu/pubmed/matcher/

CINAHL Citation Matcher (nursing journals)

- Open the Citation Matcher from the ‘More’ dropdown in CINAHL.

Not Finding the Article?

- Try adding or removing various parts of the citation in case something is incorrect.
- Search for and browse the journal using the directions under Find a Journal.
- Contact the Library for further help! 919.660.1100 or medical-librarian@duke.edu

Accessing the Article

The “Getit@Duke” button provides options for acquiring the article, such as links to:

- full-text options
- search the catalog of the Duke University Libraries
- request the article from a journal we don’t own

The “DUMCL Online” button links to the electronic full-text of the specific article.

The “DUMCL Stacks” button indicates a print copy is owned by the Library.
Find a Journal

E-Journals
http://mclibrary.duke.edu/ejournals

- The fastest way to access electronic journals.
- Click on E-JOURNALS under the menu for an up-to-date list of full-text electronic journals to which the Medical Center Library subscribes.
- Browse titles alphabetically or by subject, or search for a specific title.
- Additional information such as coverage dates, embargos, or name changes will be listed with the title.
- Links take you directly to the journal’s site, where you can browse available issues.
- This list primarily includes biomedical electronic journals. Check the Catalog for complete holdings.

Catalog
http://search.library.duke.edu/

The Catalog contains records for print and electronic journals available at all of the Duke Libraries.

- Select “Title” from the dropdown menu and enter as many words from the title as you know.
- Click “Search”

From the results list...

- Refine your search using the options on the left, such as “Journal, Magazine, or Serial” or “Medical Center” (Hint: Click ‘Show More’... for additional options).

Electronic Access indicates an item is available electronically.

Click on get it @Duke to see the full-text options.

Tips and Reminders

- Some materials, such as serial monographs, may not be listed as journals in the Catalog. If you do not find the journal you are looking for, try removing the Journal refining option.
- Articles available in print at either the Medical Center Library or the Library’s Off-Site Stacks facility can be ordered for free through the Document Delivery/Interlibrary Loan system.
- If you have trouble with off-campus access, review http://mclibrary.duke.edu/accounts-access/access-campus.
- If we don’t have an item, request it via Interlibrary Loan (fee involved) at https://illiad.mclibrary.duke.edu/.

Questions? Phone: 919.660.1100 Email: medical-librarian@duke.edu IM: dukemc1ref 7/21/15